Fall in to the lap of the god of dreams; The Morpheus music centre by Sonneteer

British luxury music systems maker; Sonneteer have officially launched their Morpheus music centre in the UK after a successful roll out around the world including Japan, USA and Europe. The Sonneteer Morpheus, made in Guildford, Southern England, will now be available to Sonneteer approved, hi-fi and luxury goods retailers throughout the UK including Harrods and Selfridges. The Morpheus was launched globally, in January at the Las Vegas Consumer Electronics Show(CES).

Morpheus

Hi-fi has never been quite like this. British, high end, high technology, hi-fi company, Sonneteer have teamed up with Reciva the British, world leading internet radio and streaming technology provider, to produce their most ambitious product since their inception in 1994.

The product

The Morpheus music centre from Sonneteer brings together the quality and convenience of modern technology and the ethos of traditional high end audio all in one beautifully crafted piece of equipment; a feast for both eyes and ears.

What it does

Music has now found its home on computer hard drives, personal digital music players (mp3 or iPod), memory sticks, mobile telephones and on the internet. The Morpheus brings it all into the living room and plays it back with all the musical quality for which Sonneteer products are renowned. Top that off with 16000+ internet radio stations and 23000+ on-demand programs, the Morpheus truly has and does it all.

The Morpheus features an internal Sonneteer, 100watt amplifier so all you need to make music in your living room is a Morpheus and a Pair of loud speakers.

About Sonneteer

Since 1994, as a British high end company, Sonneteer have epitomised the best in high quality, high technology hi-fi. Their in house design and development team have attracted global praise for their products including, recently, 4 technology awards from the hotbed of high tech', Japan.

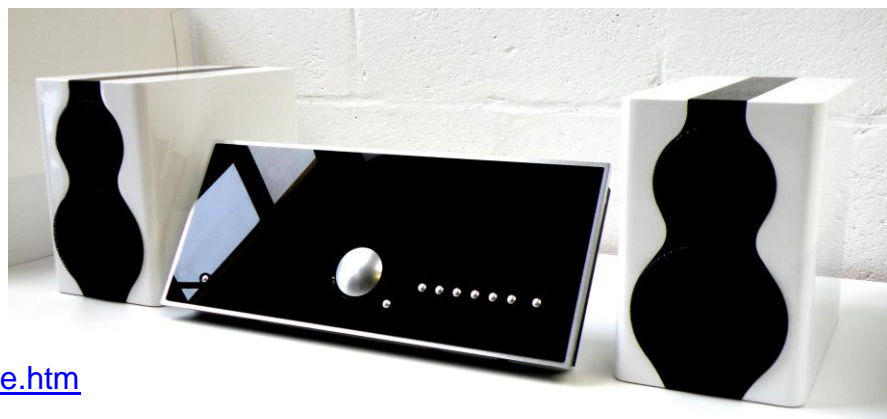

Multi award winners and renowned for their high quality, high end hi-fi separates Sonneteer are also known for pioneering the adoption of new technologies into the luxury audio market. The Bronte digital amplifier in 1999 and the Bard audio wireless solutions in the early 2000's, to name but two examples, blazed the trails that many would follow.

Retail price, UK £2500
